食物事故報表 Food Incident Post

Heading	The U.S. Washington State Department of Health (WSDH) issued a notice about the closure of Quartermaster Harbor beaches for recreational shellfish harvest due to detection of unsafe levels of Paralytic Shellfish Poisoning (PSP) toxins.
The	WSDH issued a notice about the closure of Quartermaster Harbor incident	beaches for recreational shellfish harvest due to detection of unsafe levels of Paralytic Shellfish Poisoning (PSP) toxins. The commercial harvest is not affected.
	Details of affected species and areas are listed in the WSDH website.
Source	WSDH website
	https://fortress.wa.gov/doh/eh/portal/odw/si/BiotoxinBulletin.aspx King County Government
	http://www.kingcounty.gov/depts/health/news/2016/August/20-pa ralytic-shellfish-poison.aspx
- · · · · · · · ·
Position of	According to the information of WSDH and King County
CFS	government, the beaches are closed to the recreational harvest of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of
	of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp.
	of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. • Acquisition of the products through online purchase or of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded.
	 of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It
	 of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It is heat-stable and cannot be destroyed through cooking. PSP
	 of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It is heat-stable and cannot be destroyed through cooking. PSP toxin can cause symptoms such as numbness of mouth and of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It is heat-stable and cannot be destroyed through cooking. PSP toxin can cause symptoms such as numbness of mouth and limbs and gastrointestinal discomfort. In severe cases, paralysis
	 of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It is heat-stable and cannot be destroyed through cooking. PSP toxin can cause symptoms such as numbness of mouth and limbs and gastrointestinal discomfort. In severe cases, paralysis with respiratory arrest and even death may occur.
	 of the species listed. All areas are closed for the sport harvest of scallops. The closures do not apply to shrimp. Acquisition of the products through online purchase or international travel cannot be excluded. PSP toxin is a natural toxin sometimes found in bi-valve shellfish. It is heat-stable and cannot be destroyed through cooking. PSP toxin can cause symptoms such as numbness of mouth and limbs and gastrointestinal discomfort. In severe cases, paralysis

	Investigation by CFS is ongoing.
Additional	NA
information

Posted on: 1 September 2016